
"Years ago I recognized my kinship with all living things, and I made up my mind that I was not one bit better than the meanest on the earth. I said then and I say now, that while there is a lower class, I am in it; while there is a criminal element, I am of it; while there is a soul in prison, I am not free." --Eugene V. Debs

The Women's Prison Literacy Initiative of Baltimore needs you! We provide free books to women and transgender prisoners. We need:

- Volunteers! Particularly those with experience in grant writing and non-profit tax issues. Please call Angela at 443-765-2034.
- Donations! We will accept small cash donations at the Mid-Atlantic Radical Book Fair; checks can be mailed to the address below.
- Space! If you or your organization has office and/or storage space to spare, please let us know. Our book collection is growing beyond the bounds of the founder's basement.
- Books! Last item notwithstanding, we need more dictionaries, more thesauri, more daily devotionals, and more black lit. We will be happy to come to you to pick them up.
- Friends! It is our goal to expand into working in or providing literacy programs and helping to improve all aspects of the lives of women in prison. If your organization is working with prisoners, we want to know you and know how we can work together.
